

WIVES MUST SUPPORT DISABLED HUSBANDS

Recorder Hauenstein, of Hudson County, so construes New Jersey Law and saves paralytic from Poorhouse.

"I love my husband. We have been married for more than twenty-four years. Our union was blessed by four children."

"But his helpless condition, owing to paralysis of the hip and legs, has made his presence almost unbearable around the house."

"I offered to pay for his board and lodging elsewhere, no matter what the authorities may say, to the contrary, but Recorder Hauenstein said that I must provide for him in my own home."

Mrs. Anna Eld, of No. 223 Fulton street, Union Hill, N. J., who was ordered by Recorder Hauenstein to provide a home for her crippled husband, to-day made the above statement to a reporter of "The Evening World."

Poormaster Haas, of Hudson County, to whom an appeal for aid was made on behalf of the husband, was in court ready to take Eld to the Snake Hill poorhouse if the court so demanded.

The Elds were married in Brooklyn in 1882. Both came from Germany. Their children are Christian, twenty-three years old; Frederick, nineteen; Joseph, twelve, and a married daughter, Mrs. Charles Neidling, twenty-one. The sons, except the youngest, are employed at weavers in the silk mills near Union Hill, and the daughter is married to a foreman in Simon's silk mill in the same town.

Supported Him for Six Years.

"My husband fell fifty feet to the ground twelve years ago and broke his back," Mrs. Eld explained.

"He was at that time a carpenter earning good pay. For months he lingered in the hospital hovering between life and death, and finally left his sick bed a cripple for life. His legs became distorted, and only the upper part of his body was really alive. Our children were at school, and in order to complete their education I did sewing and much hard work to keep the home going."

Mrs. Eld said that for six years she carried her husband from place to place, dressed him and attended to all his affairs, in addition to supporting the family. Three years ago their only daughter, married, and she took her crippled father to live with her. Two years ago the daughter objected to caring for her father any longer, and asserted that it was her mother's duty to bear the burden, in view of the fact that she was now well financially. Mrs. Eld, during late years, has been housekeeper for John Bellier, a well-to-do fruit and horse dealer of Union Hill. When she left her husband two months ago, she left Mrs. Eld his estate, consisting of a considerable sum in cash and two barns, several houses, besides his fruit and horse business, which she now manages. It is said that the estate is worth about $20,000.

Then Daughter Sent Him Back.

This is the reason that the daughter sent for placing the care of Eld on her mother, who at once sprang into the matter, which was decided by the decision of Recorder Hauenstein.

"He was at his wife's side when the reporter came to speak with him this time picking alms, which brought him in a few dollars a week. He says that the time has come quickly when his mind is occupied with little."

I am happy once more," he said. "My fiftieth birthday is near, and I am still a useful member of society, when all differences will be forgotten, I dreading the thought of going to the poorhouse, and I am glad to be with my dear wife once more."

POLITICS HAS PART IN BRIDE'S ROMANCE

Widow of Alderman Burrell weds man who backed him in leadership fights.

Congratulations poured in on Michael Naughton, who is popular in the Twenty-second Assembly District, when it was learned yesterday that he had married Mrs. Annie Burrell, widow of Alderman Burrell, who twice fought for and almost won the Tammany leadership in the district.

Burrell caught a cold during the last contest, it developed into pneumonia and he died about two years ago.

His most earnest supporter was Michael Naughton, who intends to fight William H. Small for the Tammany leadership. Before announcing his intentions, Mr. Naughton needed encouragement.

"Yes," he said to Mrs. Burrell, who is a handsome young woman. "I'm going to make the fight against Small, but on one condition only."

"What is that?" innocently asked Mrs. Burrell.

"That you will become my wife," I know what a splendid vote-setter you are, and you can help me win the nomination," said Naughton.

LOOTER OF PULLMAN CARS IS CAPTURED.

Loss is mourned of $5,000 worth of silverware and other articles.

The Pullman Company has been losing about $5,000 worth of silverware, linens and tapestries every month recently from the cars in the Grand Central yards, and special efforts have been made to catch the thief. To-day Special Officer Chester M. Taylor arrested Ladyslay Kawalsky, of No. 671 East One Hundred and Forty-seventh street, before Magistrate Walsh in Yorkville Court on a charge of attempted burglary.

Taylor said that when the St. Louis Limited had been delayed last night by a snow storm, the thief crept into the car of Kawalsky, who was employed as an older, enter the last Pullman car, and when the speed was followed he saw the locker holding silver. Magistrate Walsh held Kawalsky in $1,000 for examination Sunday.

THE DUTY OF A WIFE UNDER JERSEY LAW.

Recorder Hauenstein, of Union Hill, has raised this question, which is puzzling New Jersey lawyers:

Can a wife owning real estate and having a bank account be forced by law to support a crippled husband?

Some attorneys say no.

The Recorder says yes, and he has ordered Mrs. Anna Eld, of Union Hill, to provide board, lodging and clothing for her paralyzed husband.
